Jean Jacques Delahaye: PSA Peugeot Citroën Training Manager

"Vincent is efficient and mobile. He has been in touch with our team in Sochaux to install and document our corporate welding software. He has also trained our Asian, European and South American people and subcontractors, according to each specific culture and business environment. Vincent has achieved PSA Peugeot-Citroen goals."

Christophe Sarre: Unilog Project Manager

" On a metal recycling management software, Unilog IT Training has selected VBC to strengthen its training team. Vincent Bertin from VBC has trained more than 100 users and designed the technical documentation in modules. VBC has contributed brilliantly to this corporate software implementation. "

Mario Latreille: Training Lead from the ADGA Group

" ADGA joined the project at a midway point. Through the chaos of setting up a new team on an ongoing project with tight deadlines Vincent was able to establish himself as a lead point of contact and properly define documentation standards. "

Hervé Desbrest: Business Manager of Studec

" Studec selected Vincent Bertin to design training materials and lead training sessions with internal trainers for the French INTEFP (national institut for labour, employment and professional training). The goal was to bridge the gap between two financial laws. So far, I have only received congratulations from the departments who coordinate the implementation, and administrative agents are pleased about the job performed. "

Sandra Buysse: Student of Paris Chamber of Commerce and now
Technical Writer for D2T

" After my Technical Writing studies at Advancia, I easily found a position matching my aspirations The Dreamweaver and especially the Robohelp training sessions provided by M. Bertin were useful in preparing me for my position as Technical Writer. Indeed, Mr Bertin has performed business oriented training, taking into account business realities. Moreover, he showed flexibility in explaining and misunderstood points. "

Rachid Boujnikh: Design and Development Engineer For Logica CMG

" To provide a professional development result, both business and technical documentation have to be really a first-class standard. We had often met issues in designing our applications because of missing or incoherent information. Vincent succeeded in strengthening relationships between development and business people by delivering an user-friendly and efficient documentation management method . He has improved the information provided by the different documents and most of it brought a new perspective on the overall documentation management process. Finally, Vincent has given us the possibility to save lot of time from both business and technical points of view. "

Stéphane Fernandez: Senior consultant from Unilog

" Due to his professional behaviour, Vincent is a talented business partner. He has been very successful in the training and software documentation consultancy in our group. "
